Neo4j Graph Database & Analytics

Neo4j Graph Database is the only graph database trusted by enterprises for its speed, security, and scalability to support the most challenging transactional and analytical workloads. With Neo4j Graph Database, you can choose from multiple cloud options – self-hosted, hybrid, multi-cloud, or our fully managed cloud service, Neo4j AuraDB.

Neo4j unifies the power of knowledge graph, data science, and vector search to power cutting-edge GenAI apps with highly accurate responses, rich context, and deep explainability – while serving as long-term memory for LLMs. As AI-driven insights become essential for modern enterprises, GraphRAG – combining knowledge graphs with Retrieval Augmented Generation – is redefining GenAI, positioning Neo4j at the forefront of this transformative era.

Community

Neo4j boasts a dynamic community of over 300,000 developers, data scientists, and architects worldwide, all contributing to the continued advancement of graph technology. This vibrant network of professionals actively collaborates, shares knowledge, and contributes to Neo4j's open-source projects.

In addition, over 100,000 people have enrolled in GraphAcademy, our free online learning platform. Neo4j GraphAcademy offers comprehensive, self-paced training developed by seasoned Neo4j professionals, empowering members to uncover hidden patterns and relationships in connected data sets.
